TARIFF WALL AGAINST U.S. IS DEMANDED

Barrier as High as Hoover's Advocated by General Clark in Address to Conservative Women

SPEAKER ANSWERS PROSPERITY CRY

Head of Women's Association in Edmonton Also Speaks for Mr. D. B. Plunkett

CANADA is today the greatest factor in United States prosperity and will continue to be unless we answer Herbert Hoover with as high a tariff wall as he promised the farmers of his country during his campaign for president," declared General Clark, Federal member for the Burgeois riding, when addressing a large gathering of the Women's Conservative Association in Amphon Hall yesterday afternoon in the interests of Mr. D. B. Plunkett, Conservative candidate in the federal by-election to be held in Victoria.

Mrs. J. A. Gilles, president of the Women's Conservative Association of Victoria, officiated as chairman. Other speakers of the afternoon were Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the candidate; Mrs. Reid Burns, vice-president of the Women's Conservative Club of Edmonton; Mr. J. M. Brady, M.P., member for Skeena and Mr. J. H. Dickie, M.P., member for the Janowiez riding. Mrs. T. R. Bowden was the soloist for the afternoon.

General Clark in his opening remarks said:

"There are many arguments presented to the electorate to secure the election of Dr. MacLean as member of Victoria in the Federal House, chief among these is that Canada is prospering at the present time, and suggesting that this can only be due to the Liberal Government, now I am not short sighted enough to deny that there is prosperity in Canada. Is there any reason why Canada should not be prosperous? Is there no valuable natural resources? The prosperity is natural one. The question that arises, however, is are we enjoying the measure of prosperity we should enjoy? Is the Government giving us the kind of administration that will give us the maximum measure of prosperity we are entitled to."

"I turn to the Trade Commissioner's report on the country's balance of trade for my answer and find that I have many pertinent questions to put to the Hon. James Maclean, Minister of Trade and Commerce, as I see it visiting Vancouver and all probably come here to speak to us."

TRADE DECREASING

"I find in looking at his report at Canada's trade balance instead increasing as the story of prosperity gains strength is decreasing. In 1926 our trade balance was $400,000. This dropped to $36,000,000 in 1927 and again to $141,000,000 in 1928."

"Again I turn to the report dealing with trade matters and find that adverse trade balance instead of steadily diminished had been

Simplicity Marks Facade Elevation of Essondale Addition

THE front elevation of the Female Chronic Building, to be erected by the Provincial Government at Essondale, as an addition to the Mental Hospital there, is from a drawing executed in the office of the provincial architect, Mr. H. W. Foster. The building will house 800 patients and its completion will relieve pressure upon the existing accommodation at Essondale. The contract for the building of the wing, awarded to the carrying into effect the project, who will have a large contract, and will occupy, it is believed, something like two years to complete. Before the building is furnished the cost will total fully $2,000,000, it is thought. That the new wing is absolutely needed is borne out by the statement made by Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works in the former Government, that before the building is completed the capacity of the hospital will be such that there will be enough patients to occupy all the accommodation. In the construction work at least 60 per cent of the material will be local products and manufactured outside of the British Empire. The plans were prepared under the direction of Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works. When tenders were awarded the work of Mr. Whitaker was given praise by the contractors present.

Jubilee Hospital Will Receive Appropriations Aggregating $100,000

THE Royal Provincial Jubilee Hospital in this city will be aided by the Provincial Government with a vote of $50,000, which is promised to be placed in the estimates, and will therefore be available following the opening of the fiscal year, and also with an additional sum of $50,000 which will be devoted to future requirements.

FLIN FLON'S WEALTH TOLD TO EXPERTS

Canadian Mining Institute, Western Section, Meets in Vancouver—Recent Progress Reviewed

B.C.'S 1928 OUTPUT GREATEST TO DATE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21.—British Columbia heard, above the mineral resources, metallurgical nonmetallics of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, this afternoon at the one session of the annual meeting of the Western Branch, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

After reviewing the history of mining development in Manitoba, Dr. Delury, mining commissioner for the province, spoke of the big properties in the northern section, Flin Flon and Sherritt, and systematic development work was proceeding on the Flin Flon property, he said, where a body of ore of 16,000,000 tons had been blocked out. The ore, he said, shows an average of 4.68 per cent copper, 3.49 per cent zinc, 0.99 per cent gold and 1.04 ounces of silver per ton. Designs for a plant of 2,000 tons per day were near completion, he said.

BOARD PLEASED

Captain George McGregor, the chairman of the board, speaking of the situation, following the announcement of the Government policy, expressed his satisfaction with the way in which the claims of the board had been met.

"I always argued that we were entitled to the $50,000 that had been promised us," he added.

This latter sum will not be available at once, but will be paid in installments on Page 2, Column 4

The Manitoba commissioner also referred to the Mandy property, four miles southwest of the Flin Flon. During 1917 to 1918 some 25,000 tons of ore were mined and hauled out overland to Trail, the recovery of this ore was 91 a ton. A new company has resumed development of this property.

Dr. Victor Dalmau, director of the Geological Survey of Canada, told of interesting findings he had found at the head of Bridge River.

H. B. Lumsden read a brief on the nonmetallic mineral He, Western Canada, which he prefaced with the remark that in British Columbia had been found every known non-metallic metal. He, however, dealt with developments in the Prairie Provinces.

B.C.'S WEALTH OF COAL MAY GAIN ADDED VALUE FROM WORK OF CHEMISTS

BY JOHN W. LOVE

PIITSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 21.—Coal is the world's sick industry, but coal on its feet and it may solve the problem of how to feed the world's crowding population for centuries to come. This optimistic picture was put together piece by piece today by German, French, British and American technicians in their papers at the international conference here. Carnegie Institute of Technology is sponsoring the conference, the second in three years, in the hope that the exchange of information will hurry the reconstruction of the coal industry.

New uses must be found for coal, it was agreed when the conference opened Monday and in three consecutive morning and four afternoon sessions, the two thousand scientists and other experts are discussing these and kindred problems.

Problems will come as a starting point were discussed today, for making synthetic ammonia, for raising the fertility of soil, for producing water gas, for conversion into an equivalent of natural gas, for manufacturing synthetic gasoline, for motor fuel, for pulverizing coal to be used in pipe lines from the sea, for turning new forms of smokeless household fuel, and even making synthetic rubber?

One speaker said artificial gas plants at the mines might yield gas for heating and cooling, not merely the gas itself, but the new gas-fired refrigerators, but as solidified carbon dioxide or "dry ice."

The great trouble with the coal industry, Dr. R. V. Klein-Schmidt, of Boston, said, is that despite a normal expansion in industry the consumption of coal has shown no increase since 1917, and upon the competition of gas, oil and water power and the betterment of the efficiency of steam boilers and engines.

DAMAGE DONE IN KANSAS IS OFFICIALLY ESTIMATED AT GREAT SUM

Total of Deaths Now Placed at Seventeen—Man Drowned When House Is Swept Away

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 21.—While relief and rehabilitation work in the flood-torn valleys of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska was progressing today, the death toll in the United States was increased to seventeen, with the discovery late today of the body of F. Ambrosio Nava, fifty-eight near Ottawa, Kansas. He was drowned when the swollen Marais des Cygnes River swept away his home in the East Bottom, Ottawa, Saturday.

Walter H. Chappell, Chamot, Kansas, director of flood control in Southeast Kansas, today estimated the damage wrought by the flood in Kansas alone at $20,000,000.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—Admitting that he threw a stone through a window of Rideau Hall, the resident of the Governor-General, in order to draw attention to his claims for pension, William H. Coulter was fined $2 and costs, and ordered to pay $2 for the repair of the window, by the magistrate here today.

Coulter said he picked out a small window so the damage would be less.

GALE CARRIES FIVE MEN OUT ON ICE SHEET

Terrific Gale on Lake Winnipeg Sweeps Man Away From Land—Rescuer in Boat Also Missing

STORM'S VIOLENCE PREVENTS SEARCH

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21.—Five fishermen swept from shore on a sheet of thin ice during a terrific northwest gale, and a sixth man who went to their rescue in a small boat, are missing tonight and may have perished on the waters of Lake Manitoba.

The men, fishermen of the Langruth, Man., district, north of Winnipeg have been missing since Tuesday afternoon, and until tonight attempts to search for them have been hampered by the violence of the storm which swept the lake.

Tonight, however, the wind abated, and a team of rescuers planned to start an immediate search, but the boat is unsuccessful, an airplane will be sent from Winnipeg Thursday morning. The missing men are: Swan Fredrikson, son of Victor Arthur Asham, Fred Copper, a man named Elke, and Joe Lopaton.

There is a possibility that the missing men may have sought shelter on an island about four miles from lake shore.

KING'S ILLNESS IS BUT SLIGHT

About twenty-five cars of Christmas trees will be shipped from Vancouver Island this year, this estimate based on inquiries to date. Most of the trees come from the second-growth logged off lands near the railway lines on the East Coast and from the islands of Ladysmith are all expected to provide suitable trees. About 300 to 350 trees to the car are shipped on each consignment, the quantity being packed close.

The bulk of these trees will go to California, where they are greatly in demand for the Yule tide season. While an expanding industry, the area of distribution is very limited as compared with that of Eastern Canada, where thousands of Christmas trees are collected for sale throughout the Atlantic States. Shipments are now being arranged for early dispatch.

N.Y. EXCHANGE SEAT BRINGS $525,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—For the first time in the history of the New York Stock Exchange, a membership seat sold for more than a million dollars. Yesterday's seat brought $525,000, an increase of $30,000 over the last sale.

growing to almost double its previous proportions. In 1925 the adverse balance was $42,000,000. This increased to $122,000,000 in 1926 and again to $207,000,000 in 1927. The 1928 report shows that the adverse trade balance has increased still more to $220,000,000.

"Now, while the $200,000,000 worth of goods we buy from the United States, all that we have as an offset is the sale of $450,000,000 worth of goods. Our raw products are sold to the United States to be manufactured there and resold to Canada at almost double the amount originally paid to us for them. Why? Because we are not making this business in our own country? Why?"

Because the barriers that formerly protected our Canadian industries have been torn down, and in place of them United States has raised such a barrier that one must needs climb Mount Robson to peer over it," General Clark declared.

U.S. HAS STRANGLE HOLD

The United States investors have a strangle hold on Canada.

They are destroying them, flooding the market with newspaper products to such an extent that paper is now being sold in the markets of the world by United States manufacturers at practically cost, to the detriment of our own industries.

United States stock quotations on shares of mines of the United States are ranging around $15 a share.

What are they today? Why you can buy a share for $54. That is only one instance of what the tearing down of the barrier has done for Canada.

"Ever since 1921 the United States has been increasing the tariff against Canada. Many of our industries have been wiped out by the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald. When Government set Canada on the pathway of progress and made a name for her throughout the world," he said.

"There is one matter I am deeply concerned in and that is the development of a national consciousness in our people. This we cannot achieve unless we have a national anthem, ensign and a national emblem decided upon for all time. These two things should at least inspire the foreign settlers in our country with a sense of duty toward the country in which they live. Let us help them to help native-born Canadians and Britishers build up a sturdy, prosperous country," he concluded.

SLAP IN THE FACE

Is that a slap in the face to Hon. Dr. King or just an open rebuke to the Liberal government that he hopes to support the government that lost fruit growers thousands of dollars this year through the repeal of the dumping duty?

Dealing with immigration, General Clark said that in the past five years more people had left Canada than were brought here. "We want people who will stay with us and help build up the country, and those people can only be obtained from the British Isles, to which the Conservative party has ever been loyal and shown its allegiance to the Crown. Don't blacken the Conservative party by electing Dr. MacLean, the Liberal candidate, to a government office," he told the police. Send him to Ottawa, Mr. Plunkett, whose views on protection for our industries homes and land, are the same as those of that great leader, Sir John A. Macdonald," he declared.

A BRIGHT GEM

"Canada has been called the brightest gem in the Crown of the British Empire. It behoves us to go very carefully and thoughtfully into matters with regard to our government, and see that we are given the protection that the country always keep that gem the brightest," Mrs. Kees Burns declared in her speech as a leader of the Conservative women in the city of Edmonton.

"We, the Conservative women, feel we are an important wing to a party that has always proved a good Government to Canada. We often hear the criticism that we are not good citizens, that the country always keep that gem the brightest," Mrs. Kees Burns declared in her speech as a leader of the Conservative women in the city of Edmonton.

"British Columbia is very fortunate in having the opportunity of again telling the rest of Canada that she is desirous of having that protection which will build up her industries and keep Canadian homes intact," Mrs. Burns concluded.

NO NATIONAL ISSUES

"Dr. MacLean tells us, and it is whispered around, that he will be in a better position to help Victoria in her port development. He tells us he will get for Victoria what the Conservatives won't get. Are we going to allow that kind of insidious propaganda to influence us in this direction? Are we going to be swayed upon democratic principles?"

He tells us he will get for Victoria what the Conservatives won't get. Are we going to allow that kind of insidious propaganda to influence us in this direction? Are we going to be swayed upon democratic principles?"

"We do not want our ranks of a solid twelve in Ottawa broken. He true to your trust and don't, for the sake of a mess of pottage, undo that great movement now started, a movement that augurs well toward the establishment of a barrier that will break the brick wall side that which Herbert Hoover proposes to erect," he said.

Mr. C. H. Dickie, M.P., spoke of the changes Victorians had to declare themselves at Ottawa and to the rest of Canada that they were desirous of a new political Canada and a new administration that would bring about this prostallments as the capital fund that is used for aiding hospitals and meeting other necessary expenditures among the hospitals of the province is recovered. The fund is one that is derived from the profits that come to the Province from the sale of liquor and represents 15 per cent of such profits.

The assistance thus assured the board of directors of the hospital will be very acceptable to that body in its attempt to meet the situation that exists at the institution, and in the endeavor to cope with the ever increasing demand put upon the Jubilee Hospital.

DEPLETED ALLOWANCE

The delay in the granting of assistance under the second heading is due to the fact that it is awkward position in which the Government found itself upon the assumption of the direction of affairs. Hon. S. L. Howe, under whose department as Provincial Minister the care of hospitals falls, found upon taking over the duties of his office that not only had the fund been depleted, but it had been overdrawn to the extent of some $298,000.

This condition of affairs left the Government in the position that it could only promise the $50,000 for perity by protecting the industries within its borders.

MR. PLUNKETT SPEAKS

Mr. D. B. Plunkett appealed to the audience to elect him to the Federal House and send him to Ottawa with the message that Canada was waiting for him.

"Let us tell Canada that we in Victoria are working throughout British Columbia, at least, as hard to see our raw products manufactured by our sons and not by our cousins to the South of us. There never was a period of prosperity in Canada to equal that brought about by the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald. When Government set Canada on the pathway of progress and made a name for her throughout the world," he said.

"There is one matter I am deeply concerned in and that is the development of a national consciousness in our people. This we cannot achieve unless we have a national anthem, ensign and a national emblem decided upon for all time. These two things should at least inspire the foreign settlers in our country with a sense of duty toward the country in which they live. Let us help them to help native-born Canadians and Britishers build up a sturdy, prosperous country," he concluded.

General Clark went on to say that if MacLean, the Liberal candidate, promised, if elected, to protect the interests of the fruit growers of the province.

REASON STATED TO OTTAWA MINISTER

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21.—When Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, reaches here Thursday, he will be waited on by a large delegation from the Associated Timber Exporters headed by Mr. J. D. McCormack, the president, in reference to the Australian lumber trade from British Columbia.

At no time, it is explained by officials of the Associated Timber Exporters, has British Columbia been so interested in any aspect as they are in the expansion of the lumber export business to Australia.

There are a number of reasons for this agitation among the British Columbia lumbermen. Australia annually imports 750,000,000 feet of lumber, half of which comes from the United States. A few years ago British Columbia lumbermen supplied a substantial portion of the export from the Coast, but latterly this has dropped to a comparatively small amount. To increase this business the trade wished the establishment of a preferential tariff on lumber with Australia and subsidies for shipping engaged in the carrying trade.

WHY SUBSIDIES

In explanation of the desire for subsidies, British Columbia lumbermen explain that for ten years after the war the American Shipping Board built up a great fleet of steamers on the Pacific. These steamers have now been sold at but a fraction of their cost to the three big United States shipping companies. Along with the ships went the organization of the Shipping Board. In addition to this, the United States is giving big subsidies to lumber companies engaged in the export business. In consequence, the company carrying lumber to Australia from Oregon and Washington, the mail subsidy from the two ports runs well over half a million dollars.

At this means, the British Columbians explain, that they are in grave danger of losing what business they have with Australia unless a wise Government action so that they may compete on a more equitable basis with their competitors.

That the United States would rather have a high tariff against Canadian lumber is not generally anticipated, they say.

In any case, it is argued, President Hoover might put a high tariff into effect, no matter what action might be taken regarding the Australian situation.

REGINA, Nov. 21.—Vigorous competition issued early this season was voiced by many of the delegates attending the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, which opened here yesterday. It was pointed out that these reports had been responsible for the loss of millions of dollars to prairie wheat growers.

Almost 70, Wins $1,000 Physical Culture First Prize

Can youth alone be physically perfect? No, physical perfection can be attained at any age. Dr. Jackson, a dying old man at fifty learned how to live properly and at thirty-five captured the $1,000 Physical Culture first prize from all comers. He tells how he read 428 page book "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL." It was largely due to living entirely upon Roman Meal for two whole years.

Roman Meal is alkali-forming and thus it keeps our blood alkaline, and most of us are to be well. Civilization's foods are acid-forming. Roman Meal corrects the acids formed in our blood and keeps us well.

Dr. Jackson was dying from "acidosis" at fifty. Roman Meal "cured" him. Roman Meal acid and will do so for the rest of his life for his new uncooked Roman Meal diet and a copy of his free booklet "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to Dr. Robert G. Jackson, 315 Vine Avenue, Toronto (9), Ontario. (Advt.)

B.C. Doctors Who Attended Canadian Tuberculosis Association Tour Report on Missionary Preventive Methods Examined in Europe

Dr. A. D. Lapp, superintendent of the Tranquilline Sanatorium, and Dr. S. G. Smith, traveling medical officer of the province, have arrived here after their tour of the Canadian medical men, of parts of Western Europe, to study treatment of tuberculosis and public health administration.

Dr. Lamb explained that while the tour was known as the Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada educational tour for doctors of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, there were attached to it a number of medical men independent of the organization.

Among the most striking activities noted were:

"1. The protection of the infant from cold disease.
2. National insurance schemes.
3. Municipal housing schemes dispelling slum areas with hygienic flats.
4. While it seems to be a common practice in Europe for governments and municipalities to make liberal contributions towards defraying the cost, both of construction of sanatorium buildings and of the main entrance of patients therein, there will be a large field for voluntary effort, and this obligation is being very generously met by the general public."

The itinerary included Great Britain, France, Switzerland and Italy. The impressions of representatives of the provinces indicate that the tour has been only extremely interesting, but most instructive.

The attention of the medical members was directed to matters pertaining to tuberculosis and to various public health aspects, both in administration and practice.

"Among the problems investigated were the following: Municipal housing schemes, sanatorium construction and maintenance, and therapeutic measures, post sanatorium care of the tuberculous, infant and child welfare, special measures and activity to protect children from infection, governmental and community contributions and maintenance and construction programmes, public health activities and administration as exemplified in such cities as Birmingham, London, Paris, Edinburgh and Glasgow, and the national Fascist Federation and insurance plan of Italy.

PORT EXPANSION

The port development of Victoria depends on a variety of factors. It has already been fostered to a substantial extent by the enterprise and initiative of the Canadian Pacific Railway. That company will continue to do all of its share in development. It keeps more than abreast of the needs of coastal and ferry traffic, as well as providing an up-to-date transoceanic service with the Orient. The C.P.R. has been the most substantial of factors in building up the port of Victoria. Its co-operation can be relied upon in the future to the utmost, and if anything like the same enterprise is shown by other organizations there is every reason to look forward with hope to the coming years.

All the major developments at this port in the way of increasing facilities for the handling of traffic have been undertaken under the aegis of a Conservative Government at Ottawa. The Ogden Point breakwater was built by the former Borden administration. The two piers which it shelters were constructed under the same administration, and, following active representations made on behalf of port development by Mr. G. H. Barnard, the then Conservative member for this constituency. The Esquimalt Drydock was provided for and largely built under a regime that was opposed by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier; its construction had proceeded so far that it was simply a question of business economy to finish it when the Liberals came into power. The wharf and office buildings which provide headquarters for the Marine and Fisheries Department in Southern British Columbia, located in the Inner Harbor, were constructed by the Conservatives. These improvements in all represent a capital outlay of some $10,000,000 which was voted on behalf of the ports of Victoria and Esquimalt during a period of less than a decade while the Conservatives were in power.

The Liberal Administration at Ottawa has been in office for nearly eight years. In comparison with Conservative achievement it has done little or nothing for the port of Victoria. The administration of the Outer Harbor improvements was turned over by the Federal Government to the Canadian National Railways, but so far whatever attempts may have been made to utilize the new pier facilities have largely failed. The C.N.R. has had preoccupations elsewhere which have probably handicapped that company in looking after Victoria's needs, and the Liberal Administration at Ottawa has taken only a languid interest in our development. The citizens themselves during late years have woken to the necessity of civic effort to increase industrial expansion and thus provide more traffic for the port. As a result of this awakening a grain elevator has been built, a cold storage plant is projected, and a woolen mill has been established. These are developments due to civic enterprise, which, in the course of time, will add to the tonnage using this port.

The history of the past shows conclusively that in the matter of port development the people of Victoria secured practically everything of major importance while the Conservatives were in power. Had that party remained in office there is every reason to believe that definite plans would have been made for the utilization of the Ogden Point piers and for the provision of far more tonnage than now seems to be available for the new Esquimalt drydock. In respect to Victoria the Federal Administration at Ottawa has been negligent for seven years. This port is perhaps too far removed from the seat of Government to interest the present authorities. It is true that a flicker of interest is now shown because a Federal by-election is pending, but in this respect it is by performances and not by promises that the good faith of a political party must be reckoned. The Conservatives, so far as port development is concerned, is the party of performance. That party has been thoroughly alive to the importance of the place which Victoria occupies in trade development on the Pacific Coast. The probability is that within a year, or shortly afterwards, a Conservative Government will be in power at Ottawa under the leadership of Mr. R. B. Bennett. With this prospect in view and in the light of the cordial sympathy which the Conservatives of the Dominion have shown in local port development—as is witnessed by the expenditure here of $10,000,000 in harbor improvements within a decade—this city should remain true to its Conservative faith. It can build for the future and lay the foundations of greater prosperity and port development by returning the Conservative candidate, Mr. D. B. Plunkett, when the poll is held in the by-election here on December 6.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

Dr. Hagbert Wright has been writing on Moscow as it is today compared with fifteen years ago. He has been revisiting the city and finds there changes which remind him of the biblical saying, "My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions." Dr. Wright is a student of Russia and of Russian literature and has no concern with the politics of the country so that what he describes is from an unprejudiced viewpoint. In 1913 he says Moscow was full of life and vigor when all, including the poorer townfolk shared in the general animation. Today it is a city of living automata, of men like robots. All the people he describes as poorly clad. "In the streets," he says, "there are queues of women—sixty to one hundred in number—patiently waiting their turn to enter the milk shops, for milk and butter are scarce today." The streets are lined with hawkers. Many of the shops are empty and deserted. The vast arcades are abandoned by the people. The housing problem is acute, and Dr. Wright describes the situation as, "a severe hardship for those accustomed to ample accommodation," and "the whole condition of life, except for a few favored families, is fraught with discomforts, of which not the least is the entire lack of privacy."

Dr. Wright says that anti-religious propaganda is very active but he is not in a position to judge what its effect is. He noted, however, that the churches were full and that services were being conducted with greater simplicity than under the old regime. He ascertained that Nonconformist sects, especially Baptists, were gaining many followers. At the Moscow University priority is given to the sons of workmen, then to the peasantry, and lastly to the sons of lawyers and doctors and parents not engaged in industrial pursuits. Fifty per cent of the students, sons and daughters of workmen, receive a scholarship of 25 roubles a month. The children of factory workers are allowed into the university without examination, but have to leave if they do not show an aptitude for learning.

In regard to politics he says the idealism which inspired the first social upheavals is now completely extinguished. Materialism reigns in the country. There is no longer any wish among the rulers to shed their own blood for ideals; they are ready, however, to shed the blood of others. Cruelly, says Dr. Wright, has been elevated to the rank of a virtue. "The revolution is inspired by a thirst for revenge, and, in the name of revenge, all things are justified." The country is governed with a despotism greater than ever exercised by any Czar. Nature seems to have attuned itself to the politics of Moscow, because Dr. Wright records that the skies during his stay were dark and sultry and the residents told him there had not been a fine day all summer. Complaints were rife that the crops were ruined and that bread would be scarce during the winter. At the frontier when he was leaving the country all Dr. Wright's money was confiscated, the Soviet officials telling him he could have it back when he returned to the country.

AMERICAN TEXTBOOKS

There is a hint of a course of action to be pursued by the Provincial Minister of Education in a discussion which recently ensued at a meeting of the Vernon School Board. A principal of a school in Vernon, Mr. H. K. Brister, advocated the use of the American "silent reader," offering the argument that it was the best on the market. Issue was taken with this contention by School Trustee P. R. Finlayson, who refused to support the viewpoint of the principal, Mr. Finlayson said: "We must keep this country British. Our children cannot become good Canadian citizens if we teach them to think in terms of the United States. There has been too much of a peaceful penetration of this country by American literature and ideals. We must put a stop to it." Mr. Finlayson does not believe that in Canadian schools there should be American textbooks and intelligence tests. The fact is that in the matter of State education Americans have nothing to teach the people of this country. There should be a weeding out of American textbooks and American methods in the public schools of this province.

A matter of great interest and importance will be discussed on Friday morning when a special meeting of the Retail Merchants' section will be held in the committee room of the Chamber of Commerce at 10 o'clock. The subject under discussion will pertain to that of the proposed new by-law which provides for the early closing of shops in the city of Victoria.

A suggestion was made at the last City Council meeting that this by-law should be amended before final passage in order that retail stores be prohibited from keeping open during the hours preceding a holiday. Moreover, it was suggested that the King's birthday and Easter Monday should be regarded as compulsory holidays.

Glass Broken—Accused Allowed
Out on Own Recognizance

After considering the case for two hours, the jury in the trial of Joseph Haig, charged with wilfully damaging property, returned the verdict of George Mason, on October 31 last, failing to reach an agreement yesterday at the criminal assizes here, and was discharged by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, who remanded the prisoner and traversed the case until the next assizes.

Mr. Stuart Henderson, counsel for Haig, asked that the accused be allowed out on his own recognizance.

Mr. William C. Moreby, Crown prosecutor, said he had no objection, and His Lordship granted the request.

Eight witnesses gave testimony for the Crown. George Mason, 628 Johnson Street, testified he was the owner of the automobile in which the accused was alleged to have been seated. The car was driven on the night of October 30 and early morning of October 31 by George Bishop. Witness saw the car at 1 a.m. and noticed the glass windows were broken. The machine was taken to the police station, and later repaired.

ACCUSES HAIG

George Bishop, 216 Mary Street, taxi driver, told he was driving his car to 736 Pandora Avenue about 12:15 a.m. in response to a call. The accused, Ernie Kruse and Mrs. Sarah Coward were at the premises. As he left the house there was a rush for the door, and Mrs. Coward and Kruse followed him out. Main also followed with something in his hand, a pistol, witness said. Mr. G. C. Main followed a taxi stand on Johnson Street. Bishop said he later returned to where his automobile was on Pandora Avenue, and standing about 200 feet distant from the car, saw the accused walking around the machine smashing the windows. Witness then phoned to Ross Bay Cemetery.

P. R. Hovey, a glazier, employed at Mellor Bros., stated he had been instructed to repair the damaged car. Three windows on each side, the windshield and rear glass were broken, he said, and the repair bill amounted to $50.

Constable John Ireland, of the city police, stated of seeing Haig at the corner of Pandora and Blandford at 1 a.m. Haig was staggering across the road had his head down, and was flourishing a white bottle in his hand. The accused was intoxicated and incapable, and his right hand was bleeding badly. Witness arrested the accused. He later examined the car and saw all the windows were smashed, and found a bullet hole in the back seat.

HEARD A SHOT

Ernest Kruse testified that he went with Haig and Mrs. Coward to visit W. J. Rumble on Pandora Avenue. The accused appeared normal, and they had nothing to drink there. George Bishop came to the place, and witness went downstairs, with Mrs. Coward and Bishop ahead of him. The accused remained in the room by himself. As witness reached the street, he heard a row behind him, and proceeded across Pandora. Later he met Bishop at the corner of Pandora and Blandford, when they heard a smash, and saw a man breaking the windows in the automobile. Kruse said he was too far away to identify the man. She passed the automobile, but it was undamaged at that time. Witness said she didn't see the accused again after she left the house.

William James Rumble, 734 Pandora Avenue, told of the visit to his home of Haig, Mrs. Coward, Kruse and Bishop. He recognized an axe with the head broken off as belonging to the accused. The axe head off chopping wood two days before the night of the visit to my room," witness asserted. He knew nothing of what appeared to be bloodstains on the blade and handle. Witness swore he heard the sound of breaking glass before Haig left his home. Sergeant Healey came and took away the blade and handle from his house.

Sergeant Thomas Healey stated that when he went to 734 Pandora Avenue, Rumble had the axe handle in his hand. Witness took the axe head and handle, and noticed there were fresh blood spots on both of them. He did not see the accused at all.

ACCUSED'S DEFENCE

Joseph Haig, the accused, sole witness for the defence, said he was in Rumble's room on October 31 when he heard glass being smashed. He thought that the windows in the stores below were being broken, so ran downstairs to see what was happening. Two or three men, he said, sprang on him in the darkness, and one struck him in the face and knocked him down. He got to his feet, and was struck down several times again. He never found out who attacked him. Witness admitted he had been drinking, but was not so drunk that he couldn't remember the incidents of the night.

The accused stated that after the assault he ran through the back of the premises and across some vacant lots. He picked up a white bottle, and held it in his hands as a weapon against further attackers. He was arrested on Pandora Avenue, and pleaded guilty in the police court to assault with intent. Haig said he did not see the automobile after he had entered Rumble's premises with Kruse and Mrs. Coward.

The jury which failed to reach an agreement in the case was composed of the following: Percival E. George (foreman); Leonard Wilson Noble, Henry Gill, Leonard C. Ostler, James Robert Flett, Alexander L.

Sidney Roofing & Paper Company and West Coast Development Instanced by Liberal Candidate

GOOD PROGRESS

The establishment of the Sidney Roofing & Paper Company, a million-dollar enterprise, and several other developments in the hinterland adjacent to Victoria, and the start made on the West Coast Road to make West Coast business tributary to Victoria, were some of the things he had supported and associated himself with when a member of the Provincial Legislature so that any criticism leveled against him in regard to having done nothing industrially for Victoria could readily be discredited by a recounting of these matters, Dr. J. D. MacLean, Liberal candidate in the Federal by-election, declared to a large gathering of Ward Four Liberals in headquarters hall yesterday.

He said that his opponent and his supporters were angry because he, Dr. MacLean, would not discuss national issues in this campaign.

"There are no national issues in this campaign. It is purely a local one. All national issues were decided at the recent by-election," he said.

"When the time comes that national issues again have to be settled I shall not be ashamed or afraid to discuss them with you," the candidate said.

FEELS SURE OF VOTE

"There were many independent citizens and a number of Conservatives who had expressed the opinion that that should be elected," he said.

"The Canadian election was in the best interests of Victoria. I am not afraid of a contest and feel sure that although the seat has been contested that Victorians will still vote in their own interests and return to Ottawa."

Dr. MacLean gave statistics to show that Canada is progressing.

"There has been increased the value of manufactured goods, in mining, exports, carloadings, bank clearings, building permits, payroll, employment and a number of other important things that constituted the barometer of Canada's prosperity."

He gave these indications of prosperity to show that the Liberal Government had not been lacking in administering to the country's needs.

A LOCAL CAMPAIGN

With regard to the by-election, he said it was purely a local campaign and he intended to conduct his campaign as such. There were vital issues at stake in so far as Victoria was concerned. His chief concern was the administration of the port. "Only by encouraging shipping to Victoria could the city grow industrially," he said.

Trustee W. T. Strath said he could not understand why Mr. Plunkett should import so many speakers to be used in the campaign.

"There had been decided national issues which had been decided years ago, and neither could he understand why the Conservative candidate totally ignored the local issues."

Prior to the speakers being heard Ward Four Liberals heard their business meeting and elected officers.

Dr. D. MacLean was elected president. Mr. H. A. Courtney was elected president, Mr. J. Strachan executive vice-president of the association. Mrs. F. W. MacKinnon, and presented her with a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Mrs. C. M. Staines, president of the Baptist Women's Foreign Service of British Columbia, addressed the meeting on the subject of Christ's challenge to the Baptist women of this province.

Dr. J. Willard Litch, superintendent of the Baptist Missions in British Columbia and Alberta, spoke on "Our Denominational Interests."

An excellent supper was served by the Aid Society of Emmanuel Church, and an address was given by Mrs. J. Ross on "Christian Canadianisation."

At the election of officers for the ensuing year, Rev. A. J. Bowbrick, president of the Canadian Association of the Baptist Women's Foreign Service, was elected first vice-president. Rev. W. MacKinnon second vice-president. Mr. F. Parritt Jr., secretary-treasurer.

After supper there was a social hour, which was followed by another devotional period, Rev. A. J. Bowbrick and Rev. F. W. MacKinnon then spoke on "The Baptist Spirit," and, after the benediction had been given, the meeting broke up.

NATIVE SONS OF B.C. SPONSOR PUBLIC
UP-ISLAND CENTRE

A cairn on Dallas Square, at Nanaimo, which has been erected to commemorate the discovery of coal on Vancouver Island, will be unveiled at a public ceremony at Nanaimo on Tuesday, November 27, under the auspices of Nanaimo Post No. 3, Native Sons of British Columbia.

The erection of this monument consummated a movement inaugurated by ex-Mayor Victor B. Harrison, of Nanaimo, who during his term as mayor and as chief editor of the local post, Native Sons of British Columbia, was always active in having the history of the Up-Island centre's basic industry handed down to posterity.

The monument, situated on the oval opposite the Nanaimo post office, is a granite column three feet square at the base and seven and one-half feet in height.

The inscription on the monument, written by ex-Mayor Harrison, is as follows:

"Discovery of coal at Nanaimo and its development by the Hudson's Bay Company, ushered in a period of development which would not have taken a decade to materialize if it were not for the continuous shipping of coal to all important points on the North Pacific coast and to merchant and naval ships continuously since the year 1852, when it began pouring into the liquidators."

ARTS AND CRAFTS BEGIN NEW YEAR

Annual Meeting, Held Last Night, at Union Building—Mr. T. S. Gore Elected President

A highly gratifying balance, one of the best in the history of the society, was reported at the annual meeting of the Island Arts and Crafts Society at its rooms, Union Building, last evening. Election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary president, His Honour Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce; president, Mr. T. S. Gore; vice-president, Mr. Vice-Presidents, Mr. T. Bamford and Mrs. W. F. Loveland; secretary, Mr. J. S. McMillan; treasurer, Mr. D. S. Cameron. The executive committee is Mrs. W. B. Young, Mr. A. Checkley, Mrs. M. Hanna, Mrs. L. Sweeney, Miss M. Lettice, Mrs. C. M. Pott, Major J. F. Lester, Mrs. M. Grutte, Miss K. Lothian, Mrs. E. Willis and Mrs. Drummond Davis.

"It has always been the ambition of this society that there should be a public art gallery in this society, and I think the time has now nearly arrived when the matter should be taken up with the Government," said the president, Mr. Gore. In his annual address to the members, in the course of which he indicated some of the aims and objects as well as attainments of the organization. One of the best things any such society could do for the young people of the coming generation was to give them every possible instruction in and association with art, as well as with the great and beautiful works of nature. In conclusion, the president referred to the laudable efforts of the Sketch Club during the past twelve months. Some of their work was shown at the meeting.

A detailed review of the year's activities by way of lectures, social gatherings, Sketch Club meetings and exhibitions was given by the secretary, Mr. McMillan. Among the lecturers during the year had been Mr. P. H. Schofield, Professor O. T. Field, of the University of British Columbia, and Mr. Earl Clarke. The society had arranged for the Victoria Agricultural Association's arts exhibition at the Willows fair, characterized as "one of the finest displays ever held in the city."

Special reference was made to the nineteenth annual exhibition of the society at the Belmont Building during October, the quality of the work being pronounced by some competent outside critics to be "better than hitherto displayed at our exhibition." The attendance was unusually large, with an average of 200 daily for a period of eight days. Fifteen paintings were sold at a profit to the value of $15.

"We cannot but admit that in this community there is a population with genuine aspirations for artistic expression, whether it be painting, sculpture or craftsmanship. It would be a great loss to the community, and is still greater to the country, if this means of self-expression was not developed, especially in the younger generation. The expression of the spirit of beauty is an ideal which we can only attain by serious study, and real art can only be expressed by disdaining ugliness in all its forms and refining it by knowledge and by the exercise of originality in our methods of artistic expression," Mr. McMillan noted.

"In Memoriam" reference included the names of Mrs. H. Croft and Capt. A. E. Harrison, two members who had passed away during the year. Executors of Mrs. Croft's estate had presented the marble statue which adorns the club-room.

ASK LEGISLATION FROM B.C. MINISTRY

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21.—Suggested amendments of the provincial income tax legislation so as to eliminate the "double taxation" or taxes applicable both in British Columbia and elsewhere in the Empire and the provinces of Canada, and formation of a new department, have gained the support of important business associations here, following a movement initiated by the Associated Property Owners' Association.

An extensive liquor-smuggling business involving probable tax losses of $100,000 has been unearthed by the Panama Government.

unist Schoolboy." The author is not only serious and ardent, but a humorist as well.

Then there is Rene Fulop-Miller's "Lenin and Gandhi," in which he describes the life and work of the two men whose personalities in the author's opinion "most forcibly impress the mind of the present age."

"Peace in Our Time" is a collection of addresses on Europe and the Empire given by Right Hon. Sir Austen Chamberlain, K.G. His Majesty's secretary of state for foreign affairs.

A FLYING STORY

There is Col. Richard Evelyn Byrd's "Steward" the story of his flying career since his training days at Pensacola, which reaches its natural climax in the polar and transatlantic flights. It is exquisitely illustrated and tells of the tortuous path that has pursued the ages, undisturbed by the winds of the outer world.

The book is brilliantly embellished by Covarrubias.

OTHER ADDITIONS

Frank Gray, late Member of Parliament for Oxford City, has written "My Two Asian Journeys"; Hermann Lutz, "Lord Grey and the World War"; C. E. Russell, "The American Orchestra and Theodore Thomas"; L. R. Fossill, "Rugby Football."

Bryson Cunningham's "Port Adminstration and Operation" should be of particular interest to local readers, and an outstanding work is the engineering classic of the National Research Corporation, is a listing of the engineering corporations with their offices, departments and connections, containing most concise engineering data pertaining to every branch of engineering. It also contains a directory of materials and equipment of industrial and power plants.

A reference book of great value is Percy Macquoid's "Four Hundred Years of Children's Costume" with illustrations from the great masters from 1400 to 1800. These reproductions are particularly fine.

There is the story of the Duchess of York as told by Lady Cynthia Asquith, both the subject and author being of interest.

Among the biographies is "Happy Mountain," by Marianne Chapman; the story of the Kentucky hills; "Our Daily Bread," F. P. Grove; G. J. Morgan's "Salvage All," a tale with a local setting; C. E. Robert's (Epesian) "This Side Idolatry," and James Stephens' exquisite collection of short stories under the Moonlight title, "Etched in the Moonlight."

Health and Diet Advice

METHODS OF COOKING

Fish can be prepared by the same processes which I have described in preparing meat. The salt should not be added until after the cooking has been completed, as a rule, fish can be cooked in less time than meat. Fried fish is the hardest to digest; fish cooked in the skin is most easily digested.

Steaming is one of the most valuable methods of cooking that can be employed in cooking vegetables, for it preserves the flavor and flavor. Vegetables with large amounts of cellulose and starch are more digestible after being cooked. This is particularly true of roots and tubers.

As a general rule, all vegetables that are boiled should be cooked rapidly with very little water. Any juices which are left around the vegetables after the cooking has been completed should be either boiled into the vegetables or used as the basis of soups and not thrown away, because these juices contain valuable mineral elements which have been absorbed from the vegetables.

Most housewives are familiar with the fact that spinach and similar greens can be cooked in any ordinary covered pot without the addition of water, but many do not know that foods like green beans may be cooked without water over slow fire in a pot with a closely fitting lid.

The heavy aluminum cooking vessels are the most satisfactory for this purpose, because they distribute the heat evenly, and tend to prevent scorching. This method cooks food at a comparatively low temperature and preserves all of the flavor and juices as well as the vitamins and mineral elements which would be partly destroyed by prolonged intensive heat. The bottom of the aluminum cooking vessels may be as much as one-fourth of an inch thick and thus convey the heat more evenly than when thin-bottomed vessels are used.

The diaries of the highly paid

chefs imported from France and Italy, where cooking has been recognized as more than an art for centuries, although appetizing, cannot be considered scientifically correct, due to the mode of preparation or the combination of food ingredients.

French chefs usually cook their meats much longer than American and English cooks. In this way they are enabled to alter the original taste of the meat, or at least annihilate it so that it may become tasteless for artificial flavorings.

The French chef gives his meat a variety of flavors which would be admirable if dietetically correct. He throws away nothing, using the trimmings of meat for meat stock, and like a skilled artist, can produce intricate results with a minimum of time.

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr. McCoy are advised that his address is Builders Exchange Building, Los Angeles, California, U.S.A.

Transportation experts of Europe recently declared that Paris will soon take the place of street cars.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

There was a knocking on the panels, followed by a silence. The kitchen was dark, except for sleepy red firelight. Barbara tried to see the clock's face, but there was no light. It had been there for more than a hundred years, though she did not think of that. She saw the wood spatter and crack and heard it give, and she heard her own frantic screams ringing through the kitchen.

Again and again she screamed, again without effort, quite without consciousness. The roar ended with the hideous sound and Kate awakened and burst into terrified uproar.

It was when she saw the first evidences of fright upon the baby's pale face that Barbara came to herself. Instantly she was still and her mother dropped on her knees beside the bed. It was exactly the voice Kate knew—tender, crooning, reassuring. "My darling—no, you mustn't be frightened—did your mother scare little baby?" Her mother, Kate, was taking care of you, my precious!"

And in the next second there was a furious, sharp rapping on the patio door, directly opposite the window where the blow had been crashing a few moments ago, and last—at last—at last the voice of some one—some one there to save her!

"Barbara! Open! For God's sake, what's the matter?" Her knees would hardly hold her as she ran; she had no voice; her fingers fumbled helplessly at the hem of her nightgown.

"Barbara! Look out for him—behind you—oh, my God, I thank thee! Oh, walt—walt—I'm doing it as fast as I can—I'm trying to open it!" And then the door opened and a blessed great figure coming in with a writhing veil of fog, and herself sobbing, tight in a man's arms, trying to speak, trying to drag his big arms closer—closer about her.

"Oh, my God, I am so grateful—walt—I thought he would kill us both, and he and the baby! He's been here—here—here—he's threatening me—he's drunk!"

"Where's Barry, Barbara?" Link Mackenzie said loudly, harshly, wild with bewilderment and amazement. Barbara felt his mouth grime dry again, and her tears beat slowly and thickly, and again she whispered in the lonely kitchen. "Oh, my God, what shall I do?"

And then like a pulse beating madly in her heart, the blind, suffocated prayer again: "Oh, my God, I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I'm sorry!"

He was crashing on the shutters with something—a rake handle perhaps, or a stout plank. The shutters rattled agonized, but the iron bars held. Barbara could hear him raking as he battled with the old window.

She followed a long silence. Barbara gave Kate her supper, looking fearfully about as she measured the careful spoons, stabbed to the heart by the baby's serenity. Unconscious little Kate with the first frightful look of her life just beyond the door! At her feet, Link was soundly sleeping again, and she crept noiselessly beside her, watching and waiting with pale, anxious face. Suddenly her eyes lit up strangely and getting to her feet, she went to the stove, and with a fearful look ken' always upon the shifter she mixed a cup of coffee, added sugar, sweetened it and heated fried potatoes on the plate that held the meat.

The bottle of beer that was always ready for Kate's crew was on the shelf. Barbara poured it into the coffee and tasted the mix with a knitted brow. The label was "Pilsner" and was marked with an autograph, but she was desperate now.

When the shutter behind her was shaking uncontrollably and its release was accompanied by Slinker's less and less intelligible threats, she could hear him walk to the tiny silt, she could hear him wolf his food, gulping his coffee. Suppose she had poisoned him? Then she would be a murderer and tried for manslaughter, perhaps.

The minutes went by in a death-like silence and there was no other attack. The clock ticked and ashed less in the fire, but outside silence reigned.

Suddenly there was a sickening crash behind her; Barbara was on her feet, her fingers bunched against her lips, her standing ever fixed upon the door.

Under a violent blow from outside the stout old sand shutter had split and through the splintered

MILTON SILLS HAS SUPERB SUPPORT

Famous Star Includes Best Talent in "The Crash" Now at Capitol

One of the best balanced casts of the year is seen in the First National Picture, "The Crash," which comes to the Capitol Theatre today.

The star of the picture is Milton Sills, one of the most popular luminaries on the screen. A few of his more recent pictures include "The Barker," "The Hawk's Nest," "The Daylight," "Framed" and "The Sea That Limbs."

William Demarest, the "heavy" of "The Crash," was for a number of years one of the most popular of vaudeville stars. He was recently seen in "The Butter and Egg Man," in support of Jack Mulhall.

DOMINION "Revenge" is one of the smallest casts that Carewe has ever engaged for a film. While these seven people did all of the emoting and registering for the cameras, Carewe had seen the original property, which he helped to make this United Artists picture. These seven—three people included Carewe's assistants, the technicians, property men, musicians, script clerks, hair-dressers, film cutters and others. "Revenge," now at the Dominion, is a story of a girl's love and romance is based on Konrad Bercovici's "The Bear Tamer's Daughter." Adaptation and screen story are by Finis Fox.

COLISEUM Laura La Plante, Universal's delightfully clever, blonde, be-dimpled comedienne returns to the Coliseum Theatre in her newest comedy success "Finders Keepers." This is from Mary Roberts Rinehart's popular Saturday Evening Post stories which were first made into one of the most delightful comedies of a comedy year. Besides Miss La Plante the cast includes John Harron, Edmund Bree, Arthur Rankin, William Gorman, Eddie Phillips and Joe Mack. Wesley Ruggles directed.

It is in National's production of "The Boss of Little Arcady," a famous novel by Harry Leon Wilson. The picture, featuring Charlie Murray, with Lucien Littlefield, Larry Kent and Loretta Young in support, heads the bill at the Playhouse Theatre.

Gordon McLeod as Shell-Shocked Soldier At Royal Tonight

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—Hon. W. D. MacLean, Minister of War, announced today that after September 1, goods entering Canada under British preference must be of 50 per cent Empire materials and labor.

The present percentage of Empire materials and labor now required is 25 per cent. The new regulations will be of immediate effect.

A corresponding provision has been made with regard to imports, under the intermediate tariff under special treaties and conventions.

Hon. J. A. Robb, in the House last session, intimated that it was proposed to increase from 25 to 50 the percentage Empire labor and materials required in goods qualifying under British preferential rates.

Japan produced more than 300,000 bushels of rice in the past season.

The sudden increase in the use of this implement in the north has led to a demand for swathers.

The swather which cuts the grain in a strip from twelve to sixteen feet across and lays it unbound in swaths or windrows to be later picked up and threshed by the combine. Since these swaths are kept from touching the ground by a wire mesh, they do not catch the heads. The cut portion is then passed to the threshing machine section and threshed out. The grain is delivered into a tank on the upper part of the machine and thence flows into the box of a wagon or truck which, while it is being threshed, is attached to the combine. As each wagon is filled it is replaced by another, and the full wagon is driven to the granary or to the elevator on the railway line if the distance is not too great. At the elevator the wagon is placed on a graded, movable platform and emptied in a minute or less by being tilted so that the grain pours out into a hopper underneath the platform, from which it is raised by an endless chain of buckets into the bins of the elevator.

according to Elsa Alsen, who will be heard at First Baptist Church on Friday, November 28. "Correct weight is an indispensable good health as well as good taste," says Elsa Alsen, "and it is only carelessness that can lead a singer to neglect her body." In America especially, declares this artist, the care of the body is given paramount attention in operas and concert singing. The requirements of the Wagnerian roles in which Elsa Alsen has made her most distinguished success are the most severe in the entire operatic repertoire, but so skillfully has this singer solved the problem of strength and grace that she is often selected for the leading role in "Resounding" when she wears the costume of a boy. In addition to her success with the Chicago opera, Elsa Alsen has appeared as leading soprano with the San Francisco and Los Angeles Opera companies.

The swather which cuts the grain in a strip from twelve to sixteen feet across and lays it unbound in swaths or windrows to be later picked up and threshed by the combine. Since these swaths are kept from touching the ground by a wire mesh, they do not catch the heads. The cut portion is then passed to the threshing machine section and threshed out. The grain is delivered into a tank on the upper part of the machine and thence flows into the box of a wagon or truck which, while it is being threshed, is attached to the combine. As each wagon is filled it is replaced by another, and the full wagon is driven to the granary or to the elevator on the railway line if the distance is not too great. At the elevator the wagon is placed on a graded, movable platform and emptied in a minute or less by being tilted so that the grain pours out into a hopper underneath the platform, from which it is raised by an endless chain of buckets into the bins of the elevator.

the preservation of one's figure is as important to a prima donna as it is to a moving picture star,

according to Elsa Alsen, who will be heard at First Baptist Church on Friday, November 28. "Correct weight is an indispensable good health as well as good taste," says Elsa Alsen, "and it is only carelessness that can lead a singer to neglect her body." In America especially, declares this artist, the care of the body is given paramount attention in operas and concert singing. The requirements of the Wagnerian roles in which Elsa Alsen has made her most distinguished success are the most severe in the entire operatic repertoire, but so skillfully has this singer solved the problem of strength and grace that she is often selected for the leading role in "Resounding" when she wears the costume of a boy. In addition to her success with the Chicago opera, Elsa Alsen has appeared as leading soprano with the San Francisco and Los Angeles Opera companies.

BY OTTAWA MINISTRY

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—Hon. W. D. MacLean, Minister of War, announced today that after September 1, goods entering Canada under British preference must be of 50 per cent Empire materials and labor.

The present percentage of Empire materials and labor now required is 25 per cent. The new regulations will be of immediate effect.

Hon. J. A. Robb, in the House last session, intimated that it was proposed to increase from 25 to 50 the percentage Empire labor and materials required in goods qualifying under British preferential rates.

Japan produced more than 300,000 bushels of rice in the past season.

Scientist Defends Fame Of Oft-Maligned Crows

Damage to Grain, German Tests Show, Is Offset by Destruction of Insect Pests, Dangerous to Horticulture

The bare branches of the tree were a tempting perch, but a moment after the first crow alighted, most of those on their way in terror. The others lay dead on the ground, the victims of numbers. Crows were a nuisance, according to these numbers. They were noisy grain thieves. Hence away with them! But now a coat of whitewash to lighten the sombre hue of the crow's feathers in rural districts comes from Germany in an article by Dr. H. Sachtleben in Kosmos (Stuttgart). If our friend, the crow and his allies, the rook and the raven, do help themselves to the crops for their dinners, they more than pay for their meals by the insect pests they consume for dessert. So at least concluded Professor Roerig in the zoological laboratory of the biological institute in Germany, according to the writer, who continues:

"The contents of the stomachs of various species of crows were examined, and an important feature of the study was the attention paid to nestlings, as well as to grown birds. The Roerig research is of special significance, since the crows examined came from different parts of Germany and were taken at every season of the year."

"The total weight of the stomach contents of 3,259 ravens and hooded crows amounted to 29,676.2 grams. Of this total 185 per cent was vegetable matter, and 23.9 per cent was animal matter. The grain contents of the stomachs included wheat, rye, oats, barley, potatoes, maize, buckwheat, pea, and various seeds. In 344 specimens the remains of mice were found, these constituting 24.4 per cent of the animal food devoured by the birds, while insects formed 31.5 per cent of the animal food.

"Both of these items of diet, of course, stand to the credit of the crows, but on the other hand, they make away with such food useful to man as hares, rabbits, and the eggs of game birds.

"Somewhat different percentages were found in the stomachs of rooks.

on November 10. A special seal in honor of the occasion will be used to post mark all postcards during the remainder of the ceremonies, and will be placed on letters by request.

The stamps will be unusually decorative. Those for postcards will have a pattern design taken from the emblem on the Takamakibana, the Imperial Throne. Small dots of mandarin orange will form the border on one side and cherry blossoms on the other. Those for domestic use will be a deep emerald green and the letter "M" in scarlet. The letter stamps will be purple and deep blue respectively and will show the palace in which the Grand Harvest Festival is to be observed.

Two special postcards will also be issued by the Ministry of Communications in connection with the enthronement. One of these represents the enthronement ceremony at the Shishin-Dai on the afternoon of November 10, and is based on the well-known painting by Saburouko Okada. The other card, a copy of a painting by Sonei Yuki, represents a scene of the Goechi dance which is staged at the grand banquet on the following day of the ceremonies. The full color of the tail of the court costumes will be brought out by a special wood cut process in twenty-three colors.

The special postmarks will be used by all regular postoffices except railway stations and those aboard steamers. Temporary offices established especially for the enthronement will also use it. Those at the Uebi Mausoleum of the Emperor Jimmu, first Emperor of Japan; the Emperor Meiji and Empress Shoken; the Taisho Mausoleum of the late Emperor Taisho, and the Naiyaku detached palace will have another seal designating the name of the mausoleum or palace.

The commemorative stamps are to be sold as long as the supply lasts.

Winter Is the Time To Buy Used Cars

In ratio of cars to population, Victoria ranks first in Canada, and in the whole world is only exceeded by one or two highly favored playgrounds in California and several other cities in the United States. And still cars are being bought every day, and it appears as though the time is not far off when every adult person will own at least one automobile.

The used car market is thus one of increasing importance, affecting as it does the highest number of actual transactions—for statistics show that three out of every five automobile drivers are driving a car that has had one or more previous owners.

Many realize the amount of valuable transportation left in cars of good make of a vintage of a few years ago, and are always interested in a used car bargain which often represents an economical investment. Such will be among those who will examine the large array of cars which have been collected at Meares Eve Bros. and which will be sold during the next few days on exceptional terms at enticing prices.

"These cars are of varied manufacture and all body types, and considerable care is given to the pocket of those requiring the cheapest transportation or others who like to drive something of better class—state Eve Brothers. These cars are being cleared at reduced prices in preference to giving them house-room over the winter and to clear the room in readiness for the 1929 trade. Sales begin at 9 a.m. today. Nowadays motoring is not exclusively a summer vacation, and comfortable and dependable winter driving is carried on during the shorter days."

Horrified Bachelor: "It is true that she has money, but if you marry her you will have to give up smoking."

Prospective Beneficent: "Yes, but if I don't marry her, I'll have to give up eating as well."
